AFT International GmbH:

MAS 900 – clean air with new extraction technology

AFT (Wuppertal – Germany) will be exhibiting their latest development in relation to centralised air-extraction technology at OTWorld – the MAS 900. With it, the company completes their line in extraction units, which is already well known throughout the sector. A new drawer unit for two-metre-long sheet materials will also be on display. Moreover, with their Highflex and Elastoflex, AFT now have two extremely resilient EVA materials in their range, which are highly resilient and quick to return to their original shape. They are particularly appropriate for intermediate soles or covering material; or they can be used in blanks that can then be milled and shaped to fit.
