Beneficial massage effect: ANTISTRESS collection from Elly

The ANTISTRESS collection from Elly includes knee-highs, stockings and tights, in a variety of product ranges, all providing regenerative massage. The Italian company will be offering its ANTISTRESS lines at OTWorld, in various denier and with a variety of compression strengths.

Light Compression 40, for instance, is suitable for minor problems with blood vessels near the surface. Medium Compression 70 den. is intended for people who already suffer from circulation problems and want to prevent more serious conditions. Strong Compression 140

den. is aimed at people who already show the initial signs of swelling and varicoses. Models in the Therapeutic Compression 280 den. range have been designed to counteract high blood pressure and for the treatment of vein sclerosis.

The graduated compression levels of the ANTISTRESS collection offers a quite special massage effect, which decreases in intensity from the ankle to the thigh and impacts positively on the circulation of the blood.

Elly have been manufacturing stockings and tights for more than 50 years. The company uses a quality management system based on ISO 9001 and works to the Oeko-Tex 100 standard. All products are CE-marked.
