cashOne cash-register system – perfect for the awinta AT1 terminal

Specialists in process automation and sector-specific software, carelogic (Emmering, Germany), will be presenting their cashOne cash-register system at OTWorld. As the first and only supplier in the sector, the company has optimised its software perfectly for the awinta AT1 terminal. AT1 is the most usual terminal to be used in pharmacies and chemist's shops. The combination of the two systems makes handling decidedly easier at the point of sale: it is only necessary to pass the paper through the machine once either to scan or to print prescriptions. Moreover, the till receipt printer and the customer terminal are also integrated into the multi-functional cash-register system.

The cash-register software is complemented by products such as dokuFlow. This mobile tool allows field sales staff to process and exchange documents – so as to facilitate seamless internal communications within the company.
