DJO Global NwDONJOY® shoulder and knee braces; a cooperative venture with EMO

The DONJOY® ULTRASLING® QUADRANT shoulder brace, which can be adjusted three dimensionally, is one of the new products that DJO Global will be introducing at OTWorld. It is easy to handle and can be adjusted without the use of tools, thus offering a variety of set-up options. The affected shoulder is supported from the hip and this version can be used without a shoulder strap. The elbow can be released and there is thus greater opportunity for movement, even in the early phases of treatment. The orthosis is suitable for all pathologies of the shoulder joint and can be used in conservative, post-traumatic and post-operative therapies. The all-in-one design reduces the need for storage space.

DJO Global will also be bringing their anatomically shaped knee brace, DONJOY® Playmaker Everest™, to Leipzig. Manufactured from breathable fabric, this brace supports natural joint control with an optional cooling function and compression. Flat polycentric braces, with protection against hyperextension, provide medial and lateral stabilisation. The cooling effect is produced by two re-usable gel-packs, which can be attached in turn to the inside of the brace with a Velcro fastening. A re-sealable bag is supplied for hygienic storage of the pack in the fridge. Compression can be regulated by means of an inflatable air compartment. This particular model is available in a universal fitting (up to 60 cm knee circumference) and can be used for the right or left knee.

The DONJOY® CLIMA-FLEX™ OA is designed for use in the treatment of osteoarthritis. It combines three-point relief with a low-profile construction. The pressure is shifted from the affected area and this can help relieve pain. The desired pressure relief is achieved with a new telescopic joint that can be regulated by turning an adjusting knob. The breathable, elastic C-6 textile removes both moisture and heat.

Furthermore, DJO Global will be taking advantage of OTWorld to spread the word about a new marketing agreement; from April, DJO Global will be taking over sales in Germany, Austria and Switzerland of selected products from the Spanish manufacturer EMO S.L. (Especialidades Médico Ortopédicas, Valencia).
